

D&D® ADVENTURERS LEAGUE SERVICE REWARDS

Version 2026.1

This Final AL Playable Version Released: August 10, 2026

As a thank you for your help to the D&D Adventurers League (AL) community this document rewards you for performing “Service Types” (below). Track the hours you perform each service type and redeem those service hours for rewards you assign to your Forgotten Realms (FR), Eberron (EB), Dragonlance (DL), and Ravenloft (RV) campaign characters.

Companions to this guide are in D&D Beyond's D&D Adventurers League Resource & Links forum and the Official D&D Discord server (#al-guides). Read more about AL on the D&D Beyond Article Posts.

SERVICE TYPES

Each hour doing the following service types earns one service hour (30-59 minutes is rounded up to one hour).

DUNGEONCRAFT

1 Per 2 Reviews. Earn one hour per every two DMsGuild reviews or notifications of errors (respectfully with cited guidance).

DUNGEON MASTERING

1 Per Session Hour+. Earn one service hour per hour Dungeon Mastering for any AL campaign. Service may also include prep time, running “Session Zeroes,” and “Mentoring New DMs” during their sessions.

Add 1 service hour per session with safety tools.

Add 1 service hour per new AL player in your session.

ORGANIZING

40+ Per Event Day. Earn 40 service hours per day (or partial day) of a public event where you were the event organizer (EO) or staff (assisting the EO in organizing duties, excluding DMing). Service may include duties related to planning, scheduling, reserving, setting up, and managing a two-table or larger event (usually at least eight players and two DMs).

Add 1 service hour per session if every DM discussed and implemented safety tools with their players.

Add 1 service hour per new AL player in your sessions.

POSTING

1 Per 4 Platforms. Earn one service hour per every four social platforms, servers, and groups you post to (e.g. one service hour for posting about an AL event on the official D&D Discord server, your Facebook group, an applicable subreddit, and BlueSky).

STREAMING

1 Per Hour+. Earn one service hour per hour of an AL actual play or informative podcast or video (e.g. AL rules discussion, DC adventure spotlight, AL event coverage). Your podcast or video must remain publicly available online (e.g. a video watchable on YouTube after the live stream). Service may include duties like fundraising, hiring, scheduling, managing, closed captioning, running, playing, recording, editing, and uploading.

The following additions are for streaming players. DMs, EOs, and staff use “Dungeon Mastering” and “Organizing” for safety tools and new players.

Add 1 service hour per session with safety tools.

Add 1 service hour per new AL player in your session.

REWARD TYPES

You may exchange service hours for rewards in any of these three categories.

Achievements. Without redeeming service hours, you earn specified rewards for meeting achievements.

Adventure Rewards. DMs exchange session time service hours for the rewards earned by one of the players in that session.

Rewards by Rarity. Exchange a specified number of service hours for individual magic items and more.

SERVICE LOG

Keep an accurate log, using the Service Log (Appendix A) or other legible documentation. Update your character sheets with reward details and certificates (Appendix B).

Saving Service Hours. Up to 40 saved service hours may be transferred from this D&D Adventurers League Service Rewards (ALSR) document to the next version. Otherwise, service hours accumulated while an ALSR is in effect must be used for rewards from that document. Before starting the next ALSR version, if you only have 1-4 unassigned service hours you may redeem them for one non-Unique Rewards by Rarity: Common or Uncommon reward from either version.

RESETTING THIS DOCUMENT

If you chose every reward (excluding the “Rewards by Rarity: Steeping” rewards, but including at least one each from the “Achievements,” “Adventure Rewards,” and “Repeatable Rewards” sections) before the next document’s effective date, you may start over again, choosing from all the rewards in this document (e.g. the DMG’s Javelin of Lightning again, another javelin from the previously chosen second source, and so on). However, some “Achievements” are worded to only be chosen once.

ACHIEVEMENTS

(COST)
(0 SERVICE HOURS)

While performing a service you might reach achievements that earn free rewards.

Reaching Achievements. Each time you reach an achievement you earn one of the listed rewards, selected in order. For example, the first time you reach the “Mending Adventures” achievement, mark the first checkbox and earn its rewards. The next time you reach that same achievement you’ll mark the second checkbox to earn its reward. Then each time you reach that achievement again, you’ll earn the third checkbox’s repeatable (∞) rewards.

Retroactive Rewards. If you’ve met a “Retroactive” achievement in the past, have never received rewards for them, and have verifiable documentation (e.g. “My 1st adventure, CCC-BLD-1-1 Bleeding Gate: Pandemonium,” published 8/1/17”) you may earn that achievement’s reward. Without verifiable documentation, you may earn its rewards the next time you perform the task, even if it’s a non-repeatable achievement and this isn’t your first time doing the task.

ADVENTURE REWARDS (∞)

(COST)

(SERVICE HOURS FROM YOUR SESSION TIME)

After running a FR, EB, DL, or RV campaign adventure, Dungeon Masters may earn the same rewards that one of their players earned from that adventure, in exchange for your session time service hours (not your prep, new player, or safety tool service hours).

Choosing Adventure Rewards. Your Adventure Rewards may not be from unpublished author-only adventures or Official Support Kit epics, and must follow the same guidance your players needed to follow (ALPG). A steeped "Hoard Magic Item" above Slumbering is only available through a "Rewards by Rarity: Steeping" service reward (or Dragon Delves play).

Assigning Rewards to Characters. Your assigned character must be of the same campaign and tier (or higher) as your player's character, and the adventure must be one that your character hasn't played before. Level advancement is optional (ALPG) or may be given to a different character.

Future Play and Service. Assign Adventure Rewards from one adventure to a character only once, even if your character plays the adventure later and the rewards are different. An Adventure Reward story item or story award is available for your character to use in its storyline after the encounter or adventure that rewarded it.

Notes:

REWARDS BY RARITY

You may redeem the stated number of service hours for these magic items (or lower rarity), options to level, and downtime or gold. These rewards are organized by rarity and service hour cost.

Choosing Rewards. Choose a reward in any order, once (unless specified as “∞” repeatable rewards or using “Resetting this Document”).

Campaign-Available Magic Item. Make your choice of magic items from campaign-available sources (ALPG), excluding Greater Fey Pact magic items and items from unpublished author-only adventures and Official Support Kit epics. Your choice must follow applicable ALPG guidance (e.g. “Unavailable Magic Items,” “Story Items,” et cetera. When needed, use “Player Choice Magic Items” guidance, except the sources aren’t restricted to the DMG and adventures). Identically named items must be from different campaign-available sources. For example, choose the DMG’s Javelin of Lightning, a second Javelin of Lightning from an adventure, a third javelin from a different adventure, and so on. A steeped “Hoard Magic Item” above Slumbering is only available through a “Steeping” service reward (or Dragon Delves play).

Assigning Rewards to Characters. Each item and downtime or gold reward must be assigned to one character. If your campaign-available magic item is restricted to a campaign setting, the character it is assigned to must match that campaign setting. (e.g. a magic item restricted to Ravenloft must be assigned to an RV character, not an FR character who plays in FR and RV). Level advancement is optional (ALPG) or may be given to a different character.
